Antony Mukuwamombe: A Trailblazer in Finance, Community Development, and Healthy Living

Antony Mukuwamombe's career has been nothing short of remarkable, marked by his dedication to both professional growth and community service. His journey began as a Regional Finance Assistant at a prominent NGO, where he worked for four years and while working there, he acquired both CTA and ITC. Antony soon realized that he wanted to gain professional training to be a qualified CA. He made a bold decision to resign from his position and embarked on the challenging path toward earning the Chartered Accountant (CA) designation. Currently, Antony is completing his professional training at BDO Zimbabwe, one of the leading global networks of public accounting firms, where he continues to build on his financial acumen.

However, Antony's ambitions extend far beyond the walls of his professional career. He is equally passionate about community development and the positive impact it can have on people's lives. Leveraging the power of social media, Antony has created a strong online presence under the name "Uncle Tony" on Twitter, where he has amassed a following of more than 55,000 people. Through this platform, Antony promotes financial literacy, demystifying complex financial concepts and offering advice on personal finance management. His goal is to empower individuals from all walks of life to make informed financial decisions, lifting communities by improving financial awareness and education.

Antony's engagement with the community goes beyond financial education. He is a staunch advocate for personal development, particularly encouraging individuals to pursue their unique talents. His role as a Master of Ceremonies (MC) at various corporate and social events highlights his own multifaceted abilities. Most notably, he was the MC at the 2024 ICAZ-hosted CASA event, a prestigious gathering of professionals in the accounting sector. In this capacity, Antony seamlessly blends his knowledge of finance with his charismatic stage presence, demonstrating the value of pursuing one's interests outside traditional career paths.

Beyond finance and events, Antony champions healthy living and physical fitness, believing in a holistic approach to personal well-being. Read More

Nuggets of Wisdom from Daniel Nyengerai, CA(Z): Insights from CAA Students Placements Work Readiness Session

On September 19th, 2024, CAA Placements hosted a Work Readiness Session that left a lasting impact on its alumni and students. One of the key highlights was a session led by Daniel Nyengerai CA(Z), Audit Manager at Grant Thornton Zimbabwe and a proud CAA alumnus. Daniel shared invaluable insights from his career journey, offering practical advice for aspiring Chartered Accountants as they navigate the transition from academia to the professional world.

Here are some key nuggets of wisdom Daniel shared during the session:

Daniel's Journey to Success

Daniel started by sharing his own story, highlighting how the Chartered Accountants Academy (CAA) helped shape his career. He joined CAA in 2015 when the program was still small, fostering a close-knit environment where students knew each other well and supported one another. He reminisced about how the experience felt like being part of a family.

- He pursued the Certificate in Theory of Accounting (CTA) at CAA and successfully passed the exam.
- In 2016, he joined Grant Thornton and began his articles of clerkship.
- After completing his articles in 2019, Daniel was given an opportunity to go on secondment to the UK, working out of Grant Thornton's Birmingham office.
- Upon his return, he was promoted to Audit Manager and is now on the path toward becoming a partner at the firm.
